The Department offers UG and PG courses in English Literature besides developing and enriching the communication skills of all the students through unique software. The Department arranges various seminars, conferences, workshops with the motive to develop skills and research among the staff and students.

About the conference

The aim of the conference on "Trauma and Healing Narrative in Indian Literature" is to explore how Indian literary works address and represent trauma and how they offer pathways for healing and recovery. The conference seeks to examine the portrayal of traumatic experiences including personal, historical, and cultural traumas, and the narrative strategies employed to process and overcome them. By bringing together scholars, writers, and practitioners, the conference aims to foster a deeper understanding of the intersection between trauma and narrative and to highlight the role of literature in facilitating healing and resilience within Indian contexts.
